

St. David's Day Quiet For Welsh

Today is St. David's Day but Montreal's Welsh community won't celebrate it in the traditional Welsh manner.

All festivities normally held in connection with the patron saint of Wales have been cancelled this year owing to the death of the late King.

Monday, members of the Welsh Church of Montreal and St. David's Society gathered in Christ Church Cathedral to pay homage to the saint's memory. A Welsh-language service will be held here tomorrow in McGill Theological College.
